- The one thing I value is hard work. I have learned this amazing life lesson from parents. It has taught me if you really want something you have to work for it. As a kid I dreamed of owning a certain car by college, I worked really hard and kept on pushing and achieved my goal.
- One that really interest me is anything related to cars. I have been working on them since a kid and have always loved it. Fixing them, upgrading, modifying. I love all of it. I also enjoy building computers in my free time. Its very satisfying when you spend time building it and it runs all the games you ever wanted to play. I also enjoy fishing to calm me down.

- I plan to become a computer engineer. If there's a way to mix this degree with something automotive I want that exact job. I personally think it will be the one job I will genuinely love doing.
- I hope that this course helps me with the future classes relating to my degree. And help me understand how all the technological things in the world really work.
